Handmade pasta is one of those things that we typically enjoy with no fancy plates, glasses or other utensils. It's a part of our growing up years, and has been a favorite food of mine since I first started preparing it. It's simple, it's fun and it's got just the right amount of flavors. For the last few years, I've been making pasta from scratch in my kitchen in Brooklyn, and with this video I'll show you how to do the same. I'll teach you all about the tools you'll need, and what different textures are made with. The video will give you a brief overview of how to make the pasta, and then finish with some baking tips and suggestions. Enjoy and let me know what you think in the comments section below! Special thanks to DaVinci Noodle Bar for supplying some of the pasta used in this video, and the rest of the ingredients used in this recipe. Check out their website!
